History: BRIGOS is the ancient Celtic word for powerful and mighty. This wine looks into a mighty future and recognizes the foundation of wine culture in the Traisen valley by the Celtic people more than 2000 years ago.

Variety: Grüner Veltliner

Origin: Niederösterreich (Lower Austria), Austria

Analysis: dry
Alcohol: 14 % vol

Quality: Qualitätswein (Quality Wine)

Potential: 2015 - 2025

Site: The grapes for this wine originate from the best sites around Wagram and Traismauer, producing annually at consistently high quality standards by vines, partially 30 years or older, where on the one hand southeasterly inclined slopes with deep loess soil ensure grapes with highest rating, while on the other hand the vintage 2012 part originates from the cool-climate sites of Traismauer, leading to distinct fruitiness & slow ripeness without overripe notes.

Winemaking: Selection of prime grapes, de-stemmed, crushed and after short fermentation with the skins pressed gently in pneumatic press. Natural Temperature-controlled fermentation. Long vinification time. Aging in small Barrique barrel (with malolactic fermentation) as well as stainless steel tanks. The Cuvée was additionally aged in stainless steel.

Serving: Serve chilled (11-13° C.). A wine for meditation, fits excellent for a long and relaxing evening at the fireside, as food companion, not least developed with a cigar sommelier as cigar companion.
